Continuation of 11, does NOT place the application in condition for allowance because: Applicant argues on pages 12-15 of their 3/14/2008 amendment that Werner fails to disclose "comparing a present situation information at a present point of time with the situation information annexed to each of said URLs and sorting the URLS in order of smallest difference between the situation information annexed to the URL and the present situation information at the present point of time". Applicant goes on to argue that differences in time would be compared differently if the date is also considered with the time of day.

The examiner respectfully disagrees.

As recited in the amended claim 1, the "situation information" referred to, is interpretted to be a time and date a bookmark was accessed as taught by ishigaki. This interpretation further reads on applicant's limitation as the information is "annexed" to the bookmark. As Ishigaki teaches in their abstract, "the bookmark ist diaply contol program rearranges and reads the sites in the bookmark storage area in reverse chronological order of access to sites, then displays the bookmark list". Therefore, Ishigaki teaches sorting URLs on a present information at a present point of time (current time and date) with the situation information annexed to each of the URLs (time and date each was last accessed) and sorts them in order of smallest difference (most recent to least recent).
